

University of Minnesota Morris

The University of Minnesota Morris (UMM) is a public liberal arts college in the University of Minnesota system enrolling 1,110 students.

The UMM small class sizes and student-centered approach fosters close relationships between faculty and students. Its curriculum emphasizes critical thinking, undergraduate research, and global engagement, preparing students for a wide range of careers and advanced study. The rural setting provides a close-knit community atmosphere while maintaining access to the resources of a major research university.

College-in-3: UMM offers both 4-year and 3-year pathways for 30 of its majors. Both versions are 120 credits. The 3-year programs require that students attend summer sessions after their first, second, and third years. UMN Morris's website describes the sequencing and scheduling for each major, so that students have a clear sense of their pathway.